

The people beh

Williams N. Jones
IHC board chairman, and chairman of Electro-Controls, Inc.,
Salt Lake City, Utah

J. Louis Schricker, MD, IHC board vice chairman,
and neurosurgeon,
Salt Lake City, Utah

Robert H. Bishoff, IHC board secretary, and president of Commercial Security Bank,
Salt Lake City, Utah

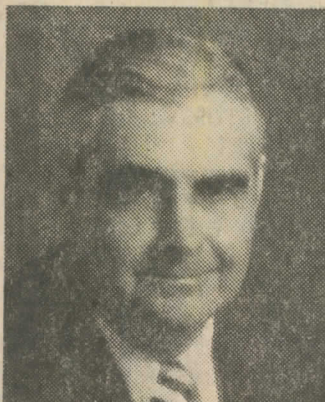

Deedee Corradini,
executive vice president, Bonneville Group, and president, Bonneville Associates,
Salt Lake City, Utah

Spencer F. Eccles, president, chairman and
chief executive officer,
First Security Corporation,
Salt Lake City, Utah

Kem C. Gardner,
general partner,
The Boyer Company,
Salt Lake City, Utah

ind the progress

Thomas D. Dee, II,
president, The Dee Company,
Ogden, Utah

Norma B. Ashton,
civic leader and housewife,
Salt Lake City, Utah

Ralph S. Blackham,
retired general manager,
Moroni Feed Company
Moroni, Utah

Robert C. Hammond, consultant, rancher, farmer,
Idaho Falls, Idaho

Jeffrey R. Holland,
president,
Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah

Henry A. Huish, retired general superintendent, Geneva Works, United States Steel Corporation,
Provo, Utah

Luana G. Searle, elementary school principal,
Alpine School District,
American Fork, Utah

Thales H. Smith, MD, pediatrician,
Provo, Utah

Intermountain Health C

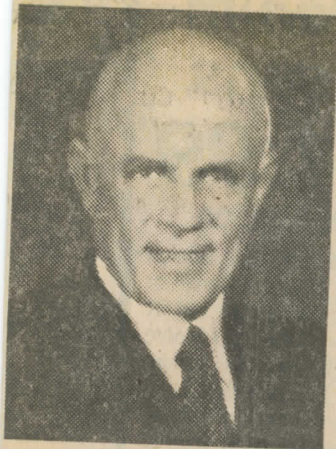

April is a milestone month for Intermountain Health Care. We're celebrating our tenth anniversary. The commemoration has caused us to reflect on where we started, where we are today, and how we got here.

Ten years ago, the LDS Church divested its hospital holdings and asked a 16-member board of trustees to assume management of the assets and liabilities of 15 Intermountain-area hospitals. This group of volunteers has expanded to include these 22 education, business and community leaders.

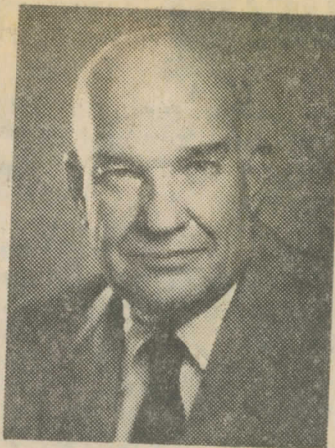

Under their leadership these past 10 years, Intermountain Health Care, a nonprofit organization, has served 1.2 million hospital patients and more than 2 million emergency-room patients. In addition, their direction has enabled us to provide more than $14 million in charity health care services.

INTERMOUNTAIN

Richard L. Warner, president, chief executive officer, Rick Warner Ford,
Salt Lake City, Utah

Robert F. Weyher, retired chairman, Weyher-Livsey Construction,
Salt Lake City, Utah

Care Board of Trustees

In the past ten years, we have provided $122 million in health care services to Medicare and Medicaid patients that was not reimbursed by the government. Sixty-five million has been written off our records as uncollectible debt.

Their guidance has led to the rebuilding of our entire hospital system, providing the communities we serve with modern, up-to-date facilities for improved care. We now include 23 hospitals, 23 suburban and rural clinics, seven InstaCare (urgent care) centers, five WorkMed (industrial/occupational) health clinics, four women's health centers, four ambulatory surgical centers, dialysis centers, psychiatric services, chemical dependency units, home health rehabilitation care, health benefits plans, medical equipment supply, shared hospital services, and more.

We salute these 22 trustees and acknowledge their outstanding voluntary service to the Intermountain community.

N HEALTH CARE, INC.